

I am VERY upset at the arrogance of the FCC in not putting this issue out for public debate and inspection! This is not acceptable, and it is most certainly not the actions of a government that is working on behalf of it's citizenship at large - rather it's indicative of an administration that's seeking to conceal it's desire to serve the interests of large corporations.